

THE NEOS EXPERIENCE

A GUIDE TO YOUR TELE-INTERVIEW

Thank you for choosing NEOS Protection!

This guide includes everything you need to know about our tele-interview process including what information is required and how it is handled once received.

What is a tele-interview?

Your financial adviser has submitted an application for insurance cover on your behalf. In order for us to process your application, we need a few more details about your health and lifestyle.

To make this easy, we do this over the phone in a confidential tele-interview.

How is your information used?

All calls are recorded for quality and compliance purposes and are treated in the strictest confidence.

The information we request will be used when assessing your application for cover and will form the basis of your plan's terms and conditions.

At NEOS, we're committed to making sure your information is used confidentially and in accordance with our Privacy Policy which you can find at neosprotect.com.au/privacy-policy.

We will only share the information we collect with your financial adviser at your own discretion.

Arranging the tele-interview

A NEOS service consultant will call you to arrange a suitable time to conduct the tele-interview. The tele-interview will take about 20-30 minutes and involves the collection of personal and medical information and your family history.

Please arrange the appointment for a time when you can talk freely and privately without interruptions.

Our questions are designed to ask for relevant details specific to the cover that you're applying for. We want to make the process as easy as possible. However, if you're not sure if we need to know something, please tell us and we'll let you know.

Your duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation

Your plan or the plan you're applying for is a consumer insurance contract and the duty below applies to you.

About this application and your duty

When you apply for life insurance, we conduct a process called underwriting. It's how we decide whether we can cover you, and if so on what terms and at what cost.

We'll ask questions we need to know the answers to. These will be about your personal circumstances, such as your health and medical history, occupation, income, lifestyle, pastimes, and current and past insurance. The information you give us in response to our questions is vital to our decision.

The duty to take reasonable care

When applying for insurance, there is a legal duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation to us before the contract of insurance is entered into.

A misrepresentation is a false answer, an answer that is only partially true, or an answer which doesn't fairly reflect the truth.

This duty also applies when extending or making changes to existing insurance, and reinstating insurance.

If you don't meet your duty

If you don't meet your legal duty, this can have serious impacts on your insurance. Your cover could be avoided (treated as if it never existed), or its terms may be changed. This may also result in a claim being declined or a benefit being reduced.

Please note that there may be circumstances where we later investigate whether the information given to us was true. For example, we may do this when a claim is made.

Guidance for answering our questions

You're responsible for the information provided to us.

When answering our questions, please:

- Think carefully about each question before you answer.
- If you're unsure of the meaning of any question, please ask us before you respond.
- Answer every question.
- Answer truthfully, accurately and completely. If you're unsure about whether you should include information, please include it.
- Review your application carefully before it's submitted. If someone else helped prepare your application (for example, your adviser), please check every answer (and if necessary, make any corrections) before the application is submitted.
- You must not assume that we'll contact your doctor for any medical information. If you're unsure about whether you should include information or not, please include it.

Changes before your cover starts

Your duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation continues until the time your insurance cover starts.

Before your cover starts, we may ask about any changes that mean you'd now answer our questions differently. As any changes might require further assessment or investigation, it could save time if you let us know about any changes when they happen.

Where the plan owner and insured person are different persons

If the plan owner and life insured under the plan are different persons, a misrepresentation by the life insured has the effect as though it's a misrepresentation by the plan owner.

If you request life insurance inside super, the Trustee obtains this insurance from us in relation to you. In this circumstance, we rely on the representations made to us by you or the Trustee.

If you need help

It's important you understand this information and the questions we ask. Ask us or your adviser for help if you have difficulty understanding the process of buying insurance or answering our questions.

If you're having difficulty due to a disability, understanding English or for any other reason, we're here to help and can provide additional support. If you want, you can have a support person you trust with you during the tele-interview.

What can we do if the duty is not met?

If the person who answers our questions doesn't take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation, there are different remedies that may be available to us. These are set out in the Insurance Contracts Act 1984 (Cth). These are intended to put us in the position we would've been in if the duty had been met.

For example we may:

- avoid the cover (treat it as if it never existed);
- vary the amount of the cover; or
- vary the terms of the cover.

Whether we can exercise one of these remedies depends on a number of factors, including:

- whether the person who answered our questions took reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation. This depends on all of the relevant circumstances.
- what we would've done if the duty had been met – for example, whether we would've offered cover, and if so, on what terms
- whether the misrepresentation was fraudulent; and
- in some cases, how long it has been since the cover started.

Before we exercise any of these remedies, we'll explain our reasons, how to respond and provide further information, including what you can do if you disagree.
